AWAY FOR THE DAY

By Isla Doyle

Starting on the first day of the school year, September 2nd, 2026, Amesbury High School has implemented an "away for the day" cellphone policy. After about two weeks, the AHS Weekly spoke with Dr. Ricci to get her thoughts on the new policy and how it has gone so far. While this policy is not yet legislated by the state of Massachusetts, multiple schools in Mass have already begun following the "away for the day" policy, some for over two years. Ricci said that she anticipates it will be a legislation in Mass soon, even though she does not have a precise estimate of when. For our school, starting this earlier rather than later is helpful because when it comes time that it is a state law, they will be sending members of the Department of Education to check in on how schools are following the new policy. If we have a method that has been working for our school for at least a year, our chances of being able to keep our own plan is high, rather than adapting to one created by the Department of Education that is not personal for our school and student body. Aside from this, Ricci states that the main motivations behind the removal of phones during school are the increases in focus and engagement in the classroom.

The new phone boxes being used to store students' cellphones.

As stated before, we are not the only school in Massachusetts already following a plan similar to this. Hamilton-Whenham and Ipswich High School both started following a plan similar to ours at the beginning of last school year, and Pentucket High School started at the same time as us. Last spring, the Amesbury Student Advisory Council visited Hamilton-Whenham High School, along with Ipswich students, to talk to their students and staff about their phone policy. SAC gathered different opinions and formed their own by observing this policy in action and then met with Dr. Ricci to give their input on how the school should go about implementing this. SAC came to the conclusion on how our bell schedule would change to accommodate dropping off cellphones and picking them up at the end of the day. They decided that a 5-minute block in their last class at the beginning of the day would be the most effective and seamless method, avoiding chaos at the end of the day while students rushed to the bus or sports. Along with this, SAC devised plans for students getting dismissed, coming in late, and other bumps that would come up along the way. They spent the summer going over the wording of the policy with Dr. Ricci.

When asking Dr. Ricci about her personal observations of the policy's influence on the school, she said that the main thing she has noticed is that the school is "louder, in a good way." She believes that eliminating cellphones has forced students into socializing during lunch and in WIN block, talking with each other and their teachers. This was another goal of the "away for the day" policy, forcing students to form connections and deepen their relationships.

Another concern when

New Phone Policy

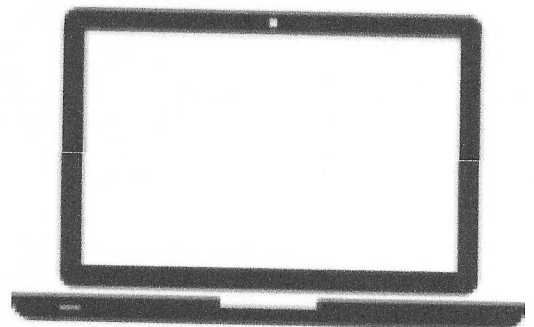

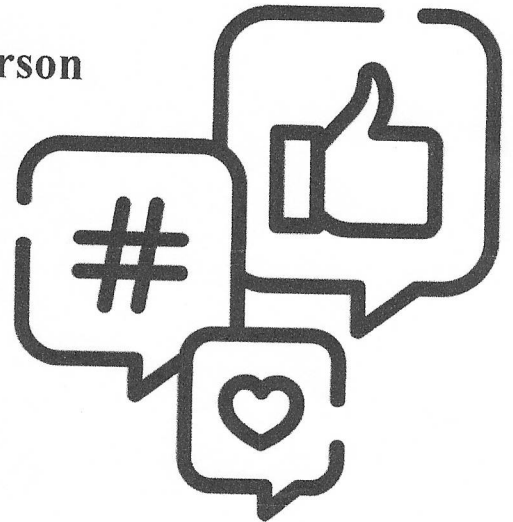

this policy was first launched was communication with parents, especially in the case of an emergency. Dr. Ricci said that she has had few conversations with concerned parents, assuming that the policy is going well. Students are able to email their parents and call the office if needed. This communication is not blocked it is just reimagined.

As for measuring the results and effectiveness of this policy, Ricci does not have an exact plan yet. She had thought of surveying the course of a year to see how students' responses have changed over time without their phones. The school is also working to adapt, with a new $15,000 grant that is being made to assist in cellphone prevention in schools. This will be used to purchase things like iPads or digital cameras, along with guest speakers.

Overall, students and teachers are in agreement with the fact that this new policy has run much more smoothly than they anticipated.

Interview With Brooke Woodsom: SAC Chairperson

Like it or not, the new AHS phone policy is in full swing. Due to a new bill passing through Massachusetts legislation, Dr. Ricci and the Student Advisory Council were inspired to get ahead by creating an "away for the day" phone system. We asked SAC chair Brooke Woodsom on some of her thoughts about the new policy. When we asked about the legislator's slow approach to signing the bill and why we are doing it, Brooke replied that they are trying to decrease the usage of phones within the classroom and want students to be more present in social settings while at school. They also hope to create healthy habits for students at home. We asked what SAC exactly contributed in creating this policy. She replied that they were there to offer student opinions. SAC figured out the logistics of the best way it would work and gave input on what supplies were needed to make it a success. Brooke said that there has been much less pushback from students as her and SAC expected.

OBSERVER

NO LACK OF HELP

Librarian Victoria Maganzini has had no trouble rounding up library assistants for WIN block and lunch. The job includes shelving and cataloging books, creating displays, and assisting with seasonal displays. If you are interested, you can still contact her at Victoria.Maganzini@amesburyma.org. On another library note, banned book month is coming up. Stop down to the library to see what books you are not supposed to be reading. You might be shocked at the books and reasons some parents objected to. For example, Harry Potter is among the books some parents don't want their kids to read, Why? Because students might believe that spells are real. Seriously.

Among the new library assistants are Allison Cac Herrera, Mathew David, Nick Casali, and Lara De Araujo.

DRAMA PLANS TWO PLAYS

The Drama Club is going all out this year with plans for both a winter and spring performance. The Club is not announcing what show they will be doing yet because they have to secure the rights to produce them, but word on the street is they are really serious.

NEED COMMUNITY SERVICE?

You can always join the AHS Weekly. You don't even need to come every Wednesday or Thursday afternoon in the MAC Lab, now in 105. You can write a column for the paper on any topic you like - music, politics, movies, the phone policy, and send it to Barbara.Leary@amesburyma.org. Of course, if you are free after school, you can always come to paper. We have jobs that don't involve much writing if you can't type.

GWEN MATTHEWS

Faculty Profile

By Skye Webster

Gwyneth Matthews is a wonderful math teacher that has joined us here at AHS! For schooling she chose to go to UVM, which is the University of Vermont. UVM is located in Burlington, Vermont and was founded in 1791 (making it the fifth-oldest university in New England). After becoming a teacher, Gwen originally ended up teaching at schools located in Haverhill and Lawrence Massachusetts. Eventually her teaching journey brought her to the obvious best school (aka the location of the famous AHS Weekly). Every night Gwen goes home to her adorable and lovely cat, Abigail. Her love for animals is also quite apparant in her interest in Biology and mammals. Gwen states that she used to do animal of the day in homeroom everyday as a fun activity for students! Of course, one of Gwyneth's favorite past times is also math, which just to happens to be perfect for a math teacher! When favorite adult books to read are those of Agatha Christie's mysteries; a series of 66 detective novels that Christie wrote between 1920 and 1976. She loves all of the books and therefore can not choose just one!

Gwen also shared that her favorite YA books include multiple famous series. Percy Jackson by Rick Riordan and the Mysterious Benedict Society by Trenton Lee Stewart are some of her favorite ones! Gwyneth also has a love for many music artists. Some of her favorites are, but are not limited to, Fall Out Boy, Marianas Trench, and Ariana Grande. Her asked what the most unusual aspect of herself was, she responded by telling AHS Weekly staff that there is many things. However, Gwen decided the most noteable thing on the list was her severe allergy to grass. Gwyneth also really enjoys reading. Her favorite foods are definitely any kind of chocolate and also Indian food! When they are available, Gwen also enjoys drinking Coca Cola and Seltzer! We are excited to get to know her this year!

MEET OUR NEW MATH TEACHER

Faculty Profile

By Kenzie Cameron

This year we have the privilege of welcoming two new math teachers, one of them being Mr. Peter Cleary! Mr. Cleary made the decision to join the forces of AHS because the school is close to home, and he is familiar with the community, as he graduated from Pentucket High School in 2020. He was also inspired by the passionate staff who want to see their students succeed. So far, he finds the AHS community friendly, supportive, and welcoming. Before working as a teacher, Mr. Cleary was an ocean lifeguard and a college student at CCSU (Central Connecticut State University). This is where he got a Bachelor's in business management and a Masters in business administration. Mr. Cleary's mom and older brother are teachers at Lawrence High School and his father is an attorney. Outside of school, Mr. Cleary loves to surf, go to the gym, and golf. Mr. Cleary also has the ability to solve a rubik's cube! Next time you see him in the hallways, make sure to make him prove it. When asked what his greatest accomplishment is, he said it was his Masters degree in business administration. Moving on to the personal things about Mr. Cleary! His favorite TV show, a fan favorite, is Spongebob. A great one. Mr. Cleary's favorite movie franchise is Star Wars. We'll have to ask which one! His favorite actor is Will Ferrell, who is in movies such as Elf and Stepbrothers. Another one of his favorite franchises is Harry Potter. A classic, and one of my favorites. His favorite music artist is the Beach Boys. Some of their songs are "Surfin' U.S.A." and "California Girls," not to be confused with the Katy Perry and Snoop Dogg song. Mr. Cleary's favorite cartoon character is Spongebob, not to anyone's surprise. Mr. Cleary also expressed that he loves a good steak. Hopefully he does not drink his favorite beverage, coffee, with the steak, though! Mr. Cleary's favorite possession of his are two NEC Championship rings. His favorite spot to go on vacation is Anna Maria Island in Florida. His favorite day of the year, and holiday, is Christmas Day. His favorite website is Fantasy Football. I am sure that resonates with a lot of people in AHS. If Mr. Cleary could meet anyone alive or dead, it would be Tom Brady because he is the "GOAT." On a more sentimental note, the best advice Mr. Cleary has ever been given and is to always move forward and never look back. Finally, other than Tom Brady, of course, Mr. Cleary's hero is his dad, because he is the hardest worker Mr. Cleary knows. We welcome Mr. Cleary to AHS, and are happy to learn more about him! If you see him in the hallways, make sure to say hi or throw out a Star Wars quote!

KICKIN' IT

Girls' Soccer

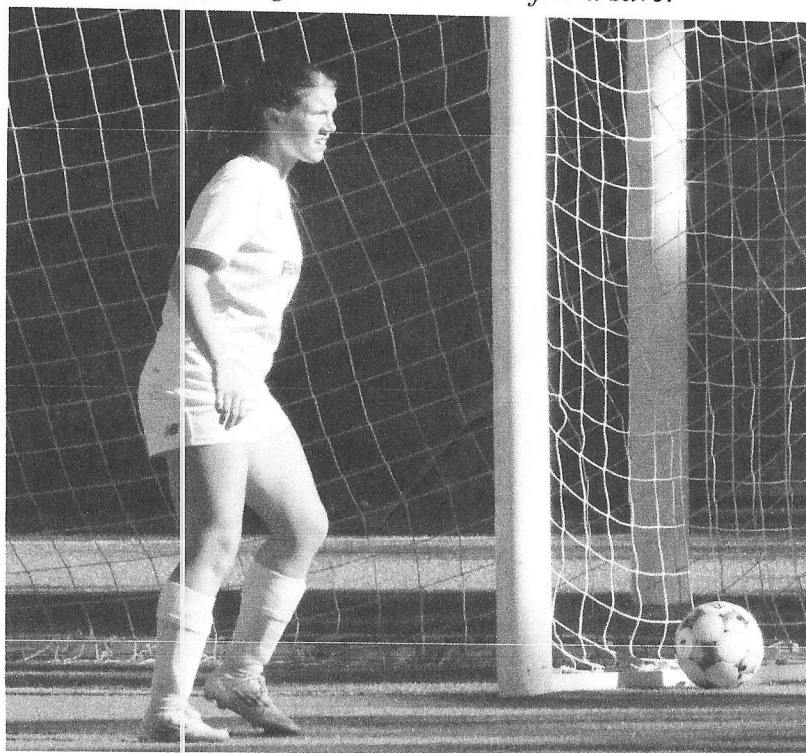

The girls soccer team is having a tough time breaking in to the win column. On Tuesday they lost 5-0 at Georgetown, their third loss. The girls have only scored one goal this season so far. It didn't help that two of their top players, Ava Tuneburg and Lexi Desmond, were both out with injuries. The girls were scheduled to play yesterday and hopefully had better luck.

BOYS LOSE BY ONE

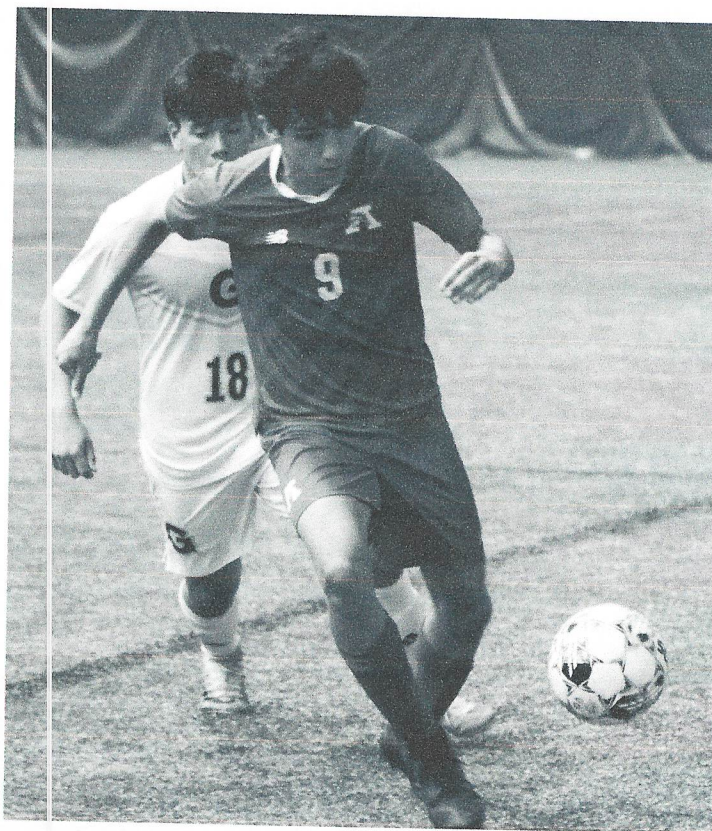

Boys Soccer

by Brooks Lindsey

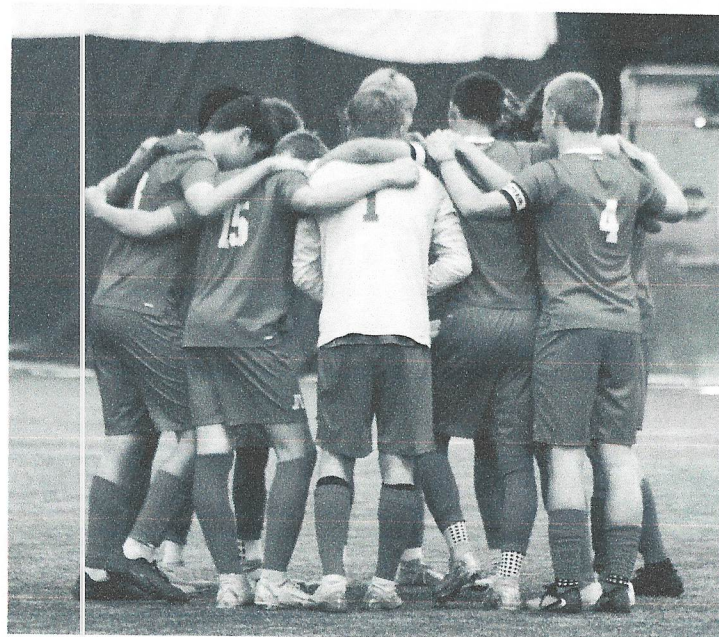

Last Thursday the Boys Soccer team took on Manchester-Essex and boy was it a shootout. Manchester would strike first scoring the first 3-0 goals in what was a commanding first half. Shortly after the third goal Amesbury drew a foul in the box resulting in a penalty kick. Matt Way would go on to score the penalty kick just before half to give the boys some momentum. Shortly after the half the hornets scored again. This goal was followed by a header by Anthony Peixoto after a corner kick from Julian Sherwood. The game would end 5-3 after Matt Way scored another penalty kick in the last 5 minutes. Tuesday the soccer team played Georgetown. They found themselves down 3-0 after the boys let in 2 goals just before halftime. Although this did not discourage them and after a much stronger 2nd half they battled back with goals from Sage Bogart and Matt Way. The Soccer Team looks to take on Essex Tech in hopes for their first win of the season.

Football

The Redhawks traveled to Lynnfield for an unusual Thursday night football game on September 10th. Despite losing stars such as QB Justin Dube and running back Joe Celia, as well as experienced center Dylan Palin, Coach Collin McQueen always seems to find replacements for his graduates. Junior Tommy Mitchell did a credible job in his first game as starting quarterback and center Ryan Houlihan didn't seem to make any mistakes at center. The backfield was manned by returning stars Joe Puleo and Connor Scialdone, and pleasant surprise in freshman Chris Rivera.

Amesbury just can't seem to catch a break against Lynnfield, which has beaten amazing Amesbury teams four of the last five years. With a tiny bit of luck, or a couple of more downs at the end of the second period, Amesbury could have won this game, which ended 14-8 Lynnfield.

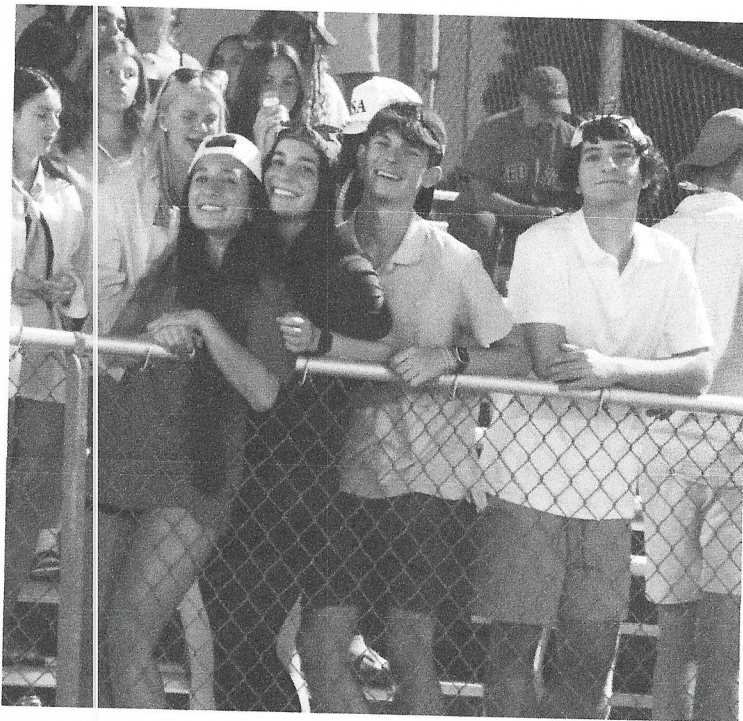

There was no scoring in the first period. In the second a momentary defensive breakdown by Amesbury led to a 97 yard touchdown run from Lynnfield with 4:45 left. Two minutes later the Pioneers scored again on a 42 yard pass play, making it 14-0 at the half. Amesbury, meanwhile, was knocking on the door twice in the second period, but couldn't convert either time.

In the fourth, Puleo and Scialdone were again moving the ball, but this time it paid off as Amesbury drove to the one and Mitchel plunged in from there. Scialdone picked up the extra points, making it 14-8 Lynnfield.

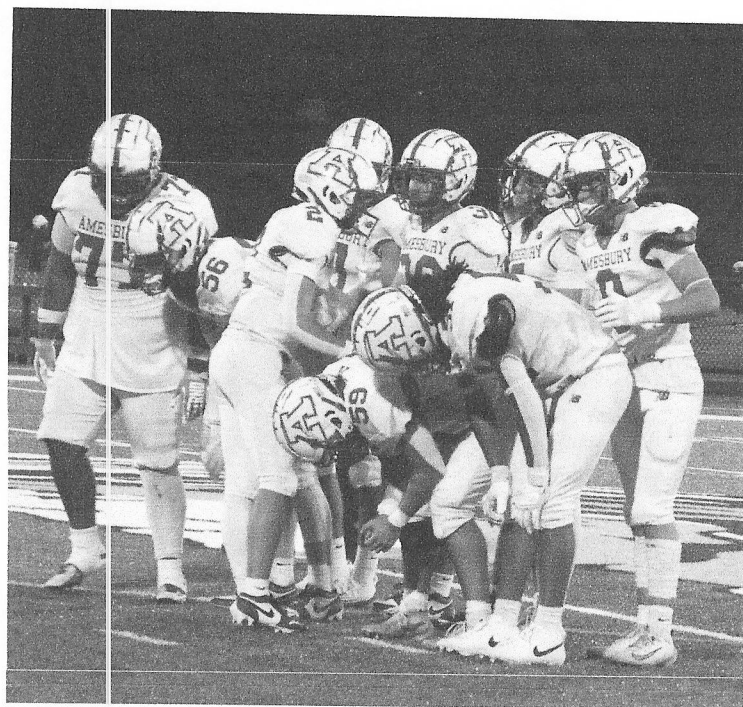

Kicker Mike Olbrot executed a perfect on-side kick, which was recovered by Rivera. Amesbury was now moving but stalled out at the Lynnfield 20. From there it was Lynnfield running out the clock.

Puleo had 88 rushing yards, Schaldone had 56, and Rivera had 52.

BOYS WIN, GIRLS LOSE

Cross Country

This Wednesday, the boys XC team opened their season with a dominant 23-35 win over a strong Triton team. (The low score wins in cross country.) The guys crushed the course, establishing themselves as the team to beat in the packed CAL Baker. Fighting for the win overall, Senior Captain Josiah Fugate was the first Redhawk through the line (but second overall) in 16:13. Closely following him, Junior Harrison Sullivan (3rd) crossed in 16:20 with a fast last mile. The third Amesbury runner was Senior Captain Ty Giangregorio in 16:43 (5th), with a short gap back to Junior Landon Mitchell (6th) and Sophomore Ben Clocher in 17:12 (7th). With Clocher coming through, Amesbury clenched the win, and varsity was rounded out by Senior Mather Sekelsky (9th, 18:06) and Sophomore Leo Oates (11th, 18:24). Amesbury's newfound depth was fully on display at Woodsom, as the team has doubled in size and the top twenty in the race was made up of thirteen Amesbury runners, many of them underclassmen.

The girls team were just nipped, 29-28. The top Amesbury runner was Genna Peacock, who placed second. The next Amesbury runner was Sequin Weeks.

Next Wednesday, the guys take on Georgetown at Woodsom.

Captain Josiah Fugate finished in second.

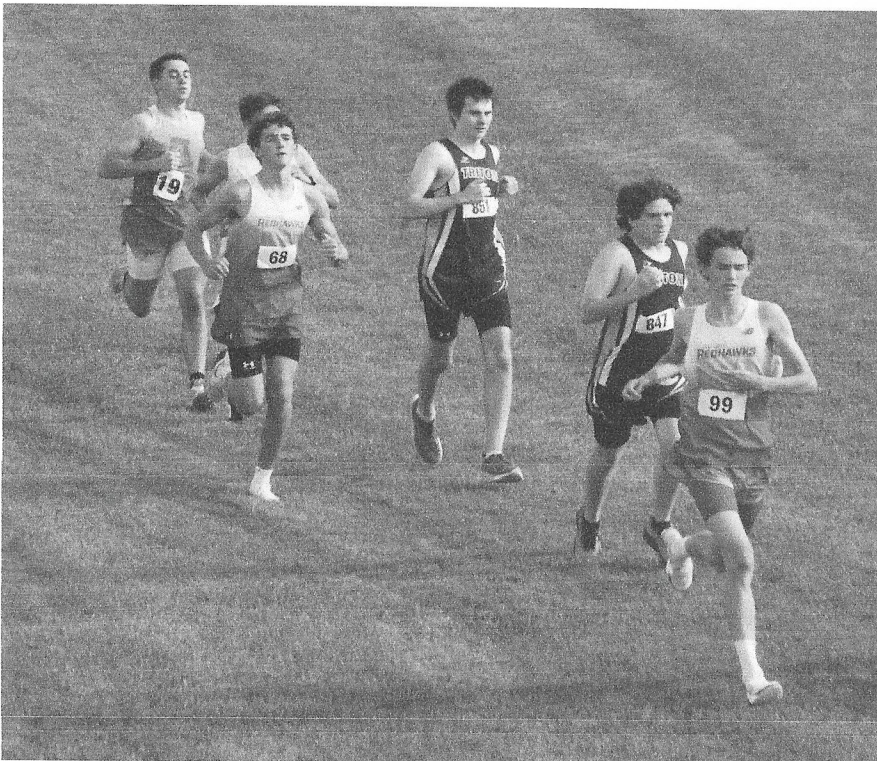

Harrison Sullivan was the second Amesbury runner.

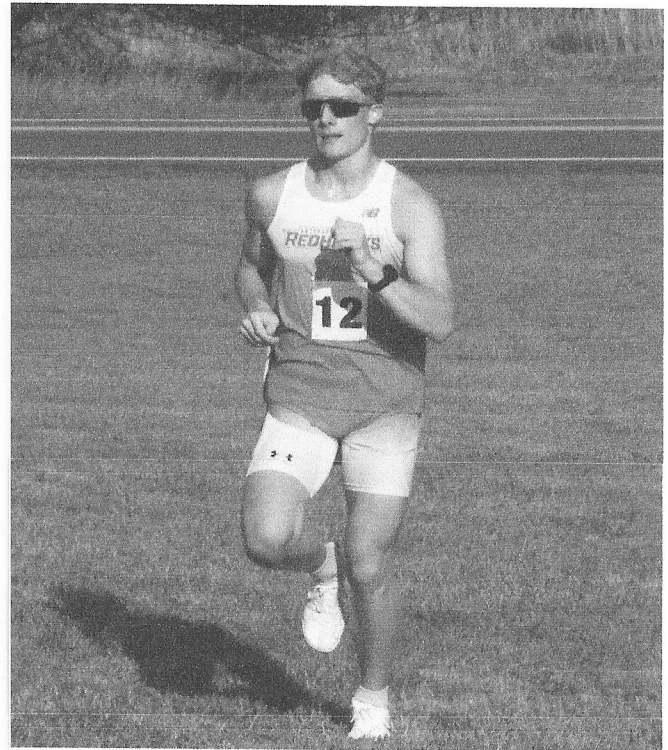

Mather Sekelski and Leo Oates face the Woodsom Hill.

KEEP ON RUNNING

HOROSCOPE

ARIES — March 21–April 19

LIFE: You leave your club meeting at 7 pm. Seven deer run across the lawn in front of you. Just another day.

SCHOOL/WORK: You will raise your hand in Honors Algebra II and ask, "How did you solve $2x - 3 = 7$." The teacher gives you a death stare and asks "Did you take Algebra I?"

TAURUS — April 20–May 20

LIFE: Someone will offer you one French fry. This is obviously a trap but you don't know what the catch is.

SCHOOL/WORK: A group project is approaching. You will do 83% of the work while Tyler says, "I can make the title slide." Tyler will then disappear.

GEMINI — May 21–June 20

LIFE: You will accidentally wave back at someone who wasn't waving at you. There is no recovery from this. Your best option is to pretend you were waiving to someone in back of them.

SCHOOL/WORK: A freshman asks where room 301 is. You have no idea. You send them to the band room.

CANCER — June 21–July 22

LIFE: A mysterious noise in your house will turn out to be either the refrigerator, the dog, or the stove vent. Did you forget to turn off the stove top when making that grilled cheese sandwich?

SCHOOL/WORK: You will open your laptop to do homework. Forty-five minutes later, you will somehow be watching a video called "Can a Raccoon Operate a Vending Machine?" You can't stop watching now until you know the answer.

LEO — July 23–August 22

LIFE: You will walk into a room and completely forget why you went there. Grandma does that all the time. Suddenly you get worried. Do you have progeria?

SCHOOL/WORK: You will arrive at school feeling unusually organized. This feeling will end at approximately 8:07 a.m. when you realize the paper you need is sitting on your kitchen table.

VIRGO — August 23–September 22

LIFE: You will make an extremely detailed plan for your weekend. Your bed decides you really need a nap.

SCHOOL/WORK: Your teacher asks five times during a period "has anyone seen a purple coffee mug."

LIBRA — Sept 23–Oct 22

LIFE: You will spend 20 minutes deciding what to eat and eventually choose exactly what you always eat. The stars tried to help. You ignored them.

SCHOOL/WORK: A teacher will say, "You can work with a partner." Immediately, 27 students will make frantic eye contact with you since you always do the projects. You announce you will work alone.

SCORPIO — Oct 23–Nov 21

LIFE: Your best friend says, "I have something to tell you later." Your brain will now create 46 possible explanations, including some involving the FBI or llamas.

SCHOOL/WORK: You will receive an assignment labeled "quick and easy." This is teacher language for "cancel your evening plans."

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 22–Dec 21

LIFE: You will announce that you're going to bed early. At 1:14 a.m., you will be researching whether penguins have knees. They do. Now go to sleep.

SCHOOL/WORK: You will finish an assignment early and experience a strange, unfamiliar feeling called "being caught up." Don't worry. It will pass.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22–Jan 19

LIFE: You will attempt to save money this week. Unfortunately, food exists. Your financial plan will collapse somewhere between pizza and an unnecessarily large iced drink.

SCHOOL/WORK: You will create a beautiful to-do list. Then you will add something you've already done just so you can cross it off. This is called productivity theater.

AQUARIUS — Jan 20–Feb 18

LIFE: You will have a brilliant idea in the shower and forget it approximately seven seconds after drying off. Humanity may never know what you discovered.

SCHOOL/WORK: During a quiet classroom moment, your stomach will make a noise normally associated with an angry walrus. Everyone will hear it. Pretend it came from the heating system.

PISCES — February 19–March 20

LIFE: The new freshman class president announces that their prom will cost $120 a ticket and be held at on top of Mt Washington. You actually believe this. Do you also believe unicorns are real?

SCHOOL/WORK: You will study everything except the one thing that appears on the test. When you see Question #1, you will briefly consider becoming a professional goat farmer. Goats don't care about causes of the Civil War.
